A Quiet Tribute.

In honour of Allan B. Miller (1961–2023), whose quiet brilliance shaped this practice more than he ever realized.

This practice bears the name of someone deeply cherished — my late husband, whose strength, clarity, and grace helped shape the heart of what I do. Renaming the practice was both a personal blessing and a professional anchor — a quiet nod to resilience, to meaning, and to love that endures.

It was Allan who, with a childlike flash of clarity, offered the insight behind my Master of Laws thesis on Game Theory in Family Law, summed up as: ‘1 + 1 = 3.’ A simple truth that continues to guide this work — where the whole must be greater than its parts, and where the sum of two lives can create something more, even in separation.
